Duties of the disciple according to Indian Scriptures :

1. Disciple is expected to respect and regard Guru like he would do with God. ("Yathadeve tatha Guru") whenever possible the disciple is expected to invite Guru to his residence for worship and honor.
2. Disciple is expected to honor the words of Guru; never give wrong information or make lies.
3. Disciple is expected to reply to the questions of Guru honestly and take up the task given to him by Guru without refusal. This may include propitiation, study, yoga, recitation or the work like propaganda work, etc. All this kind of service to Guru is for spiritual and material upliftment. Refusal to Guru may cease the Guru-disciple relationship if Guru so decides, and the disciple shall be informed such cancellation.
4. It is duty of the disciple to remember his Guru and praise him as many times in the day as he can and also spread the message of greatness of his Guru among all his relatives, friends and known people.
5. It is duty of the disciple to make the sacrifices for Guru the best he can. The scriptures and the ancient saints say that the service and sacrifice for Guru shall never go waste.

The rights of the disciples

Disciples get the experience of invocation of inner knowledge/power by the blessings of Guru gradually. He may ask questions to Guru to satisfy himself about individual/ family or spiritual matters. Disciple should understand that there must be some obvious reason if Guru ignores the questions. This does not mean that Guru is annoyed.

1. Disciple can stay at Guru's Ashram at Deogaon Rd, Chandur Rly. Dist-Amravati MS India for as many days as he would like, even for life long. Food and lodging shall be totally free.
2. Disciple has a right to serve Guru according to the disciplines at the house of Guru.

I DESPERATELY NEED GURU FOR MY SPIRITUAL PROGRESS IN LIFE. I HAVE ACCEPTED SWAMI ANILJEE AS MY GURU FOR EVER AND SURRENDERED TO HIM TOTALLY. I AM HAPPY WITH MY DECISION. I HAVE READ AND I AGREE WITH THE ABOVE. I PRAY THAT I MAY BE ACCEPTED AS DISCIPLE BY HON. SWAMIJI.
